PRESIDENT REFUSES "NO" FOR ANSWER

Tells 31 Railroad Presidents, Who Voted to Stand By Their Managers, to Come Back Again Saturday.

Men in Caucus Had Agreed to Accept President Wilson's Proposal and Were on Their Way to the White House to Tell Him So.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, August 18.—Thirty-one railroad presidents today told President Wilson they stood by the decision of their managers' committee that an eight hour day was impracticable.

President Wilson refused to take "no" for an answer to his proposal that they accept the eight hour day and asked them to return to the White House tomorrow with their managers for another conference. Just after the railroad presidents left the White House, it became known unofficially that the employees had voted to accept President Wilson's proposal, and that some of the leaders had gone to the White House to tell him so.

PRELIMINARY TO CONFERENCE

Employees' Committees and President Hold Separate Meetings This Morning.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, August 18.—While the 640 representatives of the railway employees assembled in secret session this morning to vote on acceptance of President Wilson's plan for averting a nation wide strike, the railroad presidents and their managers held a final conference before going to the White House. The President will confer with the railroad presidents at 2 o'clock today. There were indications that the employees would vote to accept President Wilson's proposal of a basic eight hour day and settlement of side issues by a special commission; but the hope for settlement was endangered by evidence that railroad presidents, backing up their managers committee, were not inclined to grant an eight hour day unless it be decided by arbitration, and in any event might ask President Wilson for a little time in which to think over his proposition.

TOLEDO SEEMS IN FOR TROUBLE

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Toledo, O., August 18.—Alleging that they have been discriminated against in favor of non-union men, 200 street car men gathered in a mass meeting today.

It was decided that the Toledo Railways & Light Company will be given until Tuesday to accede to their demands.

In event of refusal, a strike vote will be taken.

CARMEN AGAIN THREATEN STRIKE

New York Street Car Tie up Again Becomes Possible.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
New York, August 18.—The Board of Directors of the New York City Railways Company agreed today to meet a committee of employees and union leaders this afternoon, to discuss with them the charges that the company had violated the agreement which ended the recent car strike here.

The committee has given the directors notice that a strike vote will be taken unless satisfactory disposition is made of their complaint.

PROTESTING HONG KONG SEIZURES

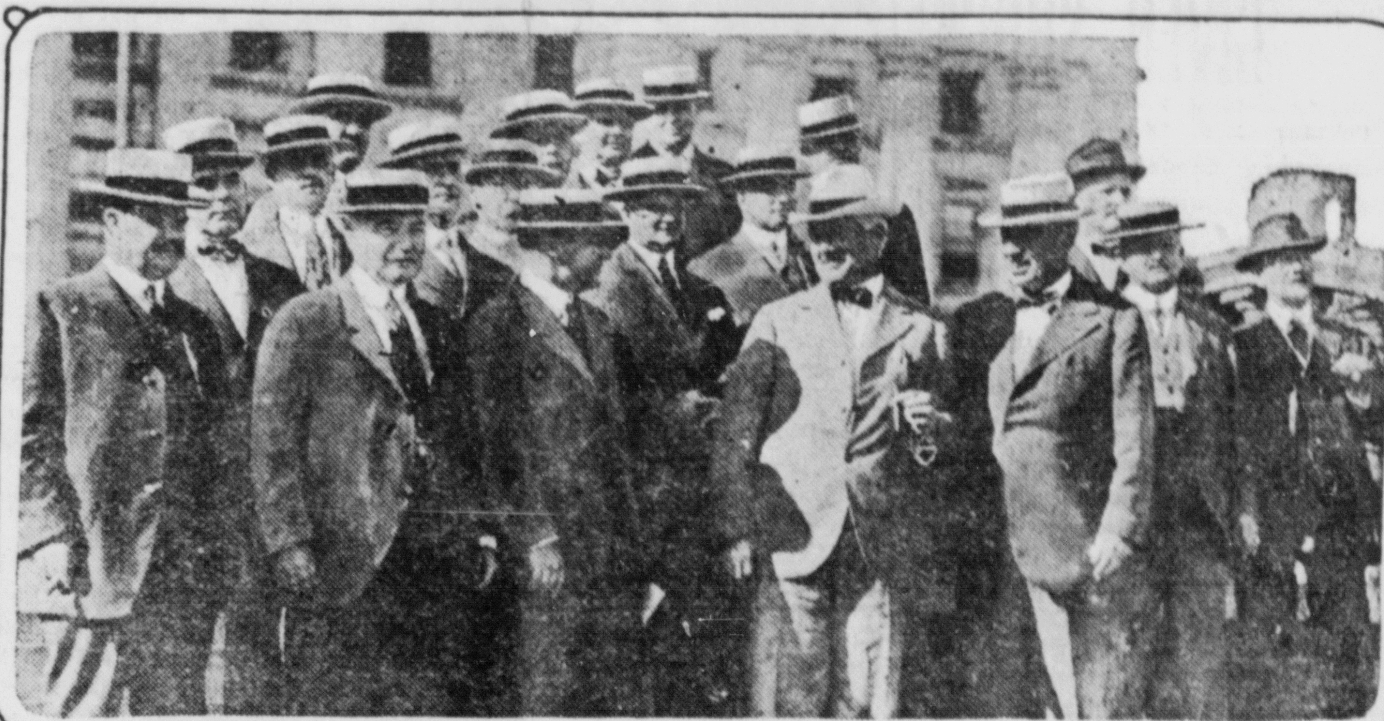

State Department Fears Interruption of Trade With Philippines.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, August 18.—Possibility that the seizure at Hong Kong of American goods on the British steamer Kafu may foreshadow a general interference with American trade with the Philippines, led the State Department today to send for full details from the American Consul at Hong Kong, with the view of making a strong protest.

SHORTAGE FOUND IN PUBLIC FUND

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Columbus, O., August 18.—State Examiner F. D. Green reported today that a shortage of $1,555.57 exists in the accounts of George Borchert, recorder of the Cleveland corporation farm. Borchert had charge of the prisoners' funds.

RAILROADERS IN WASHINGTON TRY TO FIND BASIS OF STRIKE SETTLEMENT

STRIKE CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON — UPPER RAILROAD REPRESENTATIVES — LOWER, UNION LEADERS

Done with friendly advice and suggestion after repeated appeals to the railroads of the United States and the four railway brotherhoods to make peace and avert a national strike, President Wilson framed a basis of settlement which he prepared to submit to both sides with the notification that he was ready to go to congress, if need be, to prevent the strike. The president's peace plan is a compromise, providing: First—That the railroads grant the eight hour day. Second—That the workers give up their demand for time and a half pay for overtime work. While the president did not tell how he might ask congress to act, the supposition as to his most probable action, if it appeared finally that there could be no voluntary agreement upon arbitration, would be to advocate a compulsory act. Such a law exists in several forms in European countries, and the passage of an act similar to the compulsory arbitration law of Australia was strongly advocated in Washington at the time of the enactment of the Newlands law in 1913, under which was created the United States board of mediation and conciliation, the powers of which are limited to those of persuasion.

ARMY BILL VETOED BY PRESIDENT

Explosion Wrecks Minnesota Boarding House—No Fatalities.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Biwabik, Minn., August 18.—An explosion which early today wrecked a boarding house in which were ten present, at the Biwabik mine, located near here, is laid by the authorities at the door of the Industrial Workers of the World. No one was injured.

The I. W. W. leaders, it is charged, had threatened the miners with death if they did not quit work. One member of the I. W. W. is held on suspicion.

Tony Dumont, who, with his wife two children and six boarders occupied the house, had been told by pickets to stop work if he did not want to "wake up in Hell," but he continued at work. About midnight an explosion wrecked the rear portion of the house.

Super Submarine Merchantman, According to Private Telegrams Received in Geneva, Is Safe at Home.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, AUGUST 18.—A PRIVATE TELEGRAM RECEIVED TODAY FROM BERLIN SAYS THAT THE GERMAN SUBMARINE DEUTSCHLAND ARRIVED SAFELY AT BREMEN FROM THE UNITED STATES.

The Deutschland sailed from Baltimore for Germany on August 1, and passed out to sea on the following day, dropping out of sight of the Allied warships which were awaiting her outside the three mile limit.

On July 9, the Deutschland arrived at Baltimore from Germany, and the successful completion of the first trans-Atlantic voyage by a submarine in service as a merchantman attracted world-wide attention.

She brought a cargo of dyestuffs and other merchandise, as well as mails.

To return to Bremen, the Deutschland would be compelled to go through either the North Sea or the English Channel, both of which are patrolled constantly by a great number of Allied warships.

GALICIAN DRIVE IS RESUMED

Czar's Troops, Temporarily Held Up By "Stiffening" of Teutonic Lines, Have Again Begun to Move Forward.

(Associated Press Cable.)
LONDON, AUGUST 18.—THE RUSSIANS, TEMPORARILY HELD UP IN THEIR GALICIAN DRIVE BY HEAVY COUNTER ATTACKS, HAVE AGAIN BEGUN TO MOVE FORWARD.

Petrograd today announces that the Teutonic armies on this front have failed in their attempt to throw back General Brusiloff's armies, sustaining heavy losses in the effort, and that the Russians are again advancing at several points.

In the war news from France, the Verdun region again commands attention.

The French have not been notably active there for the past few days, but last night they resumed their offensive east of the Meuse.

WAR CUTS OFF MANY COMFORTS

(Associated Press Cable.)
London, Aug. 18.—One by one the great war has whittled down a whole list of comforts, services, pleasures and so-called necessities of life that the twentieth century thought indispensable. But no grumbling is heard now that the people have adjusted themselves to the changed conditions.

Two years ago the English people were all travelers. The magic carpet lay waiting outside the door of the humblest citizen with a ten-pound note. A Week in Lovely Lucerne for Five Pounds was within the ambition of the poorest worker. At Christmas winter sport holiday makers packed the English channel boats even more than they were packed at Easter or in the summer.

For two years now not a single Englishman or Englishwoman, unless on "strict business only," has been able to leave these shores for the continent. Two years ago the Londoner could compass Boulogne or Ostend in a twenty-four hours' jaunt. Today those trite familiar towns have become as far off as Lhasa or Yarkand.

Home travel, too, has suffered. Seventeen cross-country train services have disappeared. The people who live on these routes are experiencing restrictions of movement tighter than those that kept at home their ancestors of the stage-coach days.

Main line services have been cut down so gradually that people scarcely realize how much they have been curtailed. They have become used to few and crowded long-distance trains, no dining cars and slower services. People ignore discomforts and delays that a few years ago would have sent fuming letters to the managements and the newspapers. People have schooled themselves to travel as little as possible; are content to wait indefinitely for delivery of goods; are waiving—in millions—their annual vacations.

BUY MUCH WOOL IN AUSTRALIA

(Associated Press Cable.)
Sydney, Australia, Aug. 18.—The American demand was probably the most conspicuous feature of the statistical Australian wool year of 1915-16 during which Antipodean wool trade and prices for certain grades of the product reached figures never before known in Australia.

At the port of Sydney, the largest market for raw wool in the world, although a drought had prevailed over large area of the state of New South Wales greatly reducing the flocks, there was an increase in sales of over 154,000 bales and an increase in realization of over $26,250,000.

During the year in the Sydney market alone the United States more than doubled the quantity of wool taken during the previous year. The total shipments jumped from 92,600 bales in 1914-15 to 273,600 bales (estimated) in 1915-16. Japan and Italy were also heavy buyers. Had not the Imperial embargo operated against American purchases just at the close of the year it is probable that the figures for that country would have been still larger.

CHINESE ARE GIVEN SHOCK

(Associated Press Cable.)
Peking, Aug. 18.—President Li Yuan-hung's mandate ordering the trial and punishment of nine prominent movers in the monarchical movement, including two former members of the cabinet, has created a profound sensation in China.

Lian Shih-yi, who was the confidential adviser of Yuan Shikia and was probably the most influential man in China under Yuan Shikia, is included in the list of monarchists who are to be tried and punished. Liang Shih-yi is now in Hongkong, living under the protection of the British flag. It will be impossible to extradite Liang Shih-yi for a political offense. If the Chinese government were to make charges of embezzlement against him in connection with his direction of the affairs of the Bank of Communications it might be possible to extradite him. Criminal charges would probably command the attention of the English government, but it is quite unlikely that English officials in Peking would regard political offenses as proper grounds for extradition.

Chow Tzu-chi, for several years Yuan Shikia's minister of agriculture and commerce, and minister of finance during the last days of Yuan's regime, is also among the list of monarchists to be punished. Chu Chi-chien, Yuan Shikia's former minister of the interior, is the other cabinet member against whom the mandate is directed.

Yang Tu, the chief promoter of the Chou An Hui, or the Society for the Preservation of Peace, which formally launched the monarchical movement in a public way, is the most prominent of the other men to be tried.

BLUE, NEW COMMANDER OF THE TEXAS, WON FAME IN SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

CAPTAIN VICTOR BLUE

Captain Victor Blue, United States Navy, just appointed to command the battleship Texas (after serving as chief of the bureau of navigation, with the temporary rank of rear admiral), has had a distinguished career. In the Spanish-American war Captain Blue, then lieutenant, won promotion and fame by landing at Santiago, Cuba, and traveling seventy-two miles around the city to ascertain that Cervera's ships were actually in Santiago harbor. He ran the risk of capture and execution as a spy. Since then Captain Blue has held various important commands.

HAS EIGHTY DOGS FOR HIS PLAYMATES

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Toledo, O., Aug. 18.—Having eighty dogs for playmates is the fortune of 13-year-old Ralph Watson who resides near the city. His pets include shaggy Airedales from England, Chows from China, a vicious bulldog and a clownish white-haired terrier.

The kennels where Ralph lords it are homes of pedigree dogs owned by wealthy fanciers.

IS LIFE A FAILURE, DO YOU KNOW WHY?

The human stomach should only be thought of when it suggests the need of food. The health of so important an organization should be so perfect that it may be entirely forgotten between meals.

But to millions of people, the stomach is a continuous source of mental as well as physical distress. Chronic stomach trouble preys upon the mind as well as the body. The mind grows dull and tired.

Especially is this true in cases of stomach trouble that affect the nerves. The woman who is always examining her tongue in the mirror, is a very pronounced type of nervous dyspeptic.

Looking at the tongue for defects of the stomach is the result of prolonged gastric disturbances; indigestion, sour stomach, bloating, heaviness, dullness, biliousness and indigestion, headaches all make sharp inroads on the nervous system.

Good strong nerves are easily forgotten. If they are weak and sensitive, they are fixed in the human mind day and night.

The nervous dyspeptic shrinks from the easiest tasks of life, and is entirely unfit to grapple with the harder ones. He goes through life shackled to his imaginary fear, and failure is his doom.

FARM NOTES OF MUCH INTEREST

The following valuable information is from the last bulletin issued by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Special Plowing.

Plowing 15 inches deep, either with a Spalding deep tillage plow or with a subsoil plow following ordinary plowing, as compared with the usual 7½ inch plowing, has been found unprofitable on test plots at the Ohio Experiment Station. In this work a rotation of corn, oats, wheat and clover has been followed.

The expensive operation of deep plowing has returned about a bushel more wheat per acre than 7½ inch plowing, as an average of 4 years. Subsoiling has produced an increase of less than half a bushel to the acre. Corn yields have been increased only 1 to 2 bushels per acre by deep plowing. Clover, however, has shown no benefit from special plowing, while oats have yielded most with ordinary plowing.

Time of Seeding.

As an average of 14 years' work to compare dates for seeding wheat ranging from August 31 to October 27, the Ohio Experiment Station has found that in Wayne County greatest yields have been obtained from seedings made September 21-22, while those made a week later than this take second rank and those made a week earlier stand third. In central Ohio the most satisfactory date to seed is considered the latter part of September, while the first week in October may not be too late in the southern part of the State.

Select Seed Corn.

Are you going to wait till spring to pick out seed ears for your next corn crop? Although this may be a custom, the experience of the most successful growers shows that seed selected from standing corn in the fall yields more than corn taken from the shock or crib. By fall selection the best ears growing under ordinary condition may be chosen. By selecting seed either at husking time or from the crib, the grower picks out ears that grew on unusually fertile spots or often with a single plant in a hill. The Ohio Experiment Station has obtained gains in yields of more than 3 bushels per acre by selecting seed in the fall from standing corn. Circular 71, which may be obtained from the Station at Wooster, gives the points to look for in choosing seed ears in the field.

States hopes entirely to escape from an inundation of so-called "cheap labor," it must co-operate and itself put up barriers which shall help to keep out the thousands who Dr. Gratz believes, will want and try to forsake their native country and its heavy problems.

Dr. Gratz declares that he knows from personal investigation that the tendency to emigrate from agricultural Hungary will be in strong contrast to the tendency in industrial Austria and Germany to stay at home.

The cause for this tendency of course, he explains, is to be found in the fact that the agricultural worker is not going to be so fortunately situated after the war as the industrial man, especially as the worker in Germany and a great part of Austria who is probably going to find plenty of work at wages high enough to offset the present and prospective high prices.

Yet, he believes, there will be some tendency on the part of the skilled laborer to go across to new home. His hope that this is going to be prevented during a critical period in Europe lies not only in possible legislation here, but in the repeated indications from America that she would like to check the number of emigrants coming to her.

ROYALTY FOUND IN DINING CAR

When King Milan died he entrusted one of these boys, whose mother was the beautiful Artemesia to his life-long friend, Count Eugen Zichy of Budapest. The latter for years treated him as an own son, supplied him plentifully with all material things—and then died without remembering him in his will or without making any provision for him. A Suggestion

Stephen A. Stillwell, whose home is down in Warren county, was a candidate in the Republican primary election for the nomination for state auditor.

We all remember Stephen in this section—he came through Washington one Saturday afternoon driving “a Ford.” Well, that wasn’t an unusual thing for anyone to be doing Saturday afternoon. But Stephen had a big music box rigged up inside his little automobile and traveling the country roads or traveling the city streets the strains of all the old time melodies poured forth from under the top of that machine.

The outfit attracted attention and the smiling countenance of the ambitious citizen from Lebanon did not detract from the favorable first impression.

Mr. Stillwell was no campaign orator, so he introduced a campaign novelty and it worked out about as well as the sponser had calculated.

Considering the fact that his name began with the letter “S” the vote given Mr. Stillwell was a subprisingly heavy one.

All of which is important because Mr. Stillwell, having demonstrated that his novelty was practical and valuable, his latest suggestion of a change is entitled to weight.

In order to eliminate the handicap which proved his undoing—the alphabetical order of candidates on the primary ballots—the Warren county aspirant suggests that the names of the candidates be rotated on the ballot.

What You Know

Out in the great state of Iowa there is a young man engaged in business who has adopted a new slogan and it is a winner.

He says to his patrons, and he advertises in the newspapers, that he charges for “what he knows” and not for what he does.

What the world demands today is intelligent work—endeavor properly directed, energy exerted to a purpose—and results.

This young man out in Iowa thoroughly equipped himself for business. He finished his course in the public schools of his little home village and then he completed a course in college. His education general and special secured, he spent two years, under competent workmen in actual service until he mastered the line of work he had mapped out for himself.

He provided himself, after he knew what he needed, with all the latest tools and appliances and then he opened up shop on his own account.

People come to him now, with their broken and useless machines, and by the way, his specialty is making and mending harness for that mysterious force we call electricity.

When others have failed he makes good. He doesn’t do a great deal of physical work, but everything he does counts—He gets the results because he knows what he is doing.

He charges good big sums but the people pay cheerfully because they get the intelligent service. Where others work days and accomplish nothing he works minutes and delivers results.

The case instanced shows the value and the satisfaction of a well trained and well disciplined mind—the value of an education.

Political Debates

Before a large and intelligent audience of approximately twelve thousand people, last Monday, Governor Frank B. Willis and Ex-Governor James M. Cox engaged in a joint debate.

The meeting was held under most advantageous conditions and with ideal surroundings. Out in the open air under the spreading branches of the mighty forest trees on the banks of the placid river the rival candidates presented their respective claims for political preferment.

The debate was interesting and instructive. While the orators dwelt upon few facts which were not already common knowledge, yet for the partisans to hear their particular champion defend and attack was a treat extraordinary in these days.

From near and far the friends and supporters of the rivals came to listen and to applaud.

It is doubtful, however, if in the vast intelligent, honest but very partisan gathering one single vote was made or lost by the speakers.

Time was, years ago, when these debates were the rule and not the exception and much has been accomplished, by and not the exception of rivals, to change the trend of thought on great public questions.

It has been evident for sometime that the political spell-binder has been losing in influence at a rate which has made paid orators a drug on the market and the revival of the old custom of debate may be the thing to arouse a waning interest in public speaking.

Poetry For Today

THE END OF THE ROAD.

We who passed our three score years and ten.
Have learned what courage human hearts must hold;
And now, for life's last test, we pray again
For courage to be old.

We do not realize our fleeting days;
We watch the sweep of life and feel its thrill.
Admire its progress, its achievements praise,
And share its service still.

Until, some day, the tasks once lightly met
Grow strangely irksome to our weakened hold;
Our steps are slow, we helplessly forget,
And know that we are old.

The young compassionate us for the lapse
Of memory, for failing eye and ear;
They smile at us, indulgently, perhaps,
To them old age is dear.

Oh, strong glad heart of youth, it is not so!
Though ends the road among the falling leaves,
An open gate beyond the sunset glow
The truthful soul perceives.

Of earthly blessings, age is not the least,
Serenity its twilight sky, the journey past;
Like that rare draught at Cana's marriage feast,
Life's best wine is the last.

Periscopes.

The first periscope, a crude affair embodying an arrangement of flat mirrors, was invented by a Dutchman, Telar van Elven, who in 1859 built a semisubmersible boat at Amsterdam. The modern periscope, with parabolic mirrors, was described in a magazine article by a French university professor just before an American inventor, sailor and writer of sea tales applied for a patent on the same idea. They worked independently, but the American, Morgan Robertson, is generally recognized as the inventor because he invented the machine for grinding the lenses.

Indorsement Guaranteed.

“Of course you have an echo somewhere around the place,” said Miss Cayene.

“A number of them,” replied the hotel man, “shall I direct you to them?”

“I don’t want one for myself. There is a man in the party who insists on being absolutely agreed with every time he says a word.”—Washington Star.

OLD WOMAN MAKES HAY.

Although Eighty-four Years Old, She Can Mow and Has a Fine Garden.

Cookeville, Tenn.—Mrs. Nellie France, aged eighty-four, who lives near Beaver Hill, mowed hay recently. “Aunt Nellie” enjoys remarkably good health. She has a splendid garden which she has made herself, doing all of the hoeing.

While her hay was being mowed she went to the hayfield and asked permission to drive the mower, which was being pulled by two large mules. Her request being granted, she made several rounds in the large hay field. She did the work with steady nerve and insisted upon driving longer, but the overseer, fearing that she would over-exert herself, prevailed upon her not to do so.

The day following, however, she donned her sunbonnet and went back to the hayfield and raked all day.

She frequently rides horseback from her home to Monterey, a distance of eight miles.

Wilson of Philadelphia, in charge of an archaeological expedition of the Philadelphia Commercial museum.

Pottery of an unknown design and an immense sacrificial altar are among the relics found in the newly unearthed ruins.

MAY INTRODUCE IMMIGRATION BILL

Corrupt Practices Measure to Be Defeated.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Administration senate leaders, confronted by the determination of Senator Owen to press his corrupt practices bill at this session of congress, made an agreement with the Republicans which they believe will clear a way for passage of the shipping and revenue bills, now temporarily blocked. It was agreed that Senator Owen might move to take up his bill at any time and that enough Democrats would vote with the Republicans against the motion to defeat it.

Senator Hardwick announced that it was the intention of Chairman Smith of the Immigration committee to call up the measure before adjournment, and Senator Ashurst, another Democrat, said he hoped such a motion would be made soon and that he would not be bound by the Democratic caucus which voted to delay the measure until December.

There was gossip among Democratic senators that President Wilson might veto the bill if it should be presented to him. There was, however, no authoritative information on that subject.

CLOSING DAY OF THE FAIR DRAWS ANOTHER GOOD CROWD

Excellent Racing Program and Final Inspection of Various Departmental Exhibits Draw 3500 People to Grounds as Fair Nears Successful Close.

Regardless of the heat, a large Friday crowd was on the fair grounds Friday afternoon, to witness the excellent racing scheduled for the afternoon, and to make final inspection of the various departmental exhibits before the 1916 fair passed into history.

The crowd numbered between 3,500 and 4,500 persons and a large number thronged the grand stand and race course where the chief attraction was staged.

Many of those in attendance were from outside the county, and came by automobile, while others came to the city by train.

Regardless of the fact that the big day had passed, the fair ground presented a decidedly fair-like appearance throughout the day as several hundred persons arrived comparatively early and the usual picnic dinners were enjoyed at the noon hour.

The opening heats of the races gave promise of an afternoon of splendid sport.

Thursday's crowd was variously estimated at 12,000 to 14,000 persons, and so many came in automobiles that the machines occupied several acres of ground. Like the previous day, everything moved along without a hitch, and all departments were filled with people throughout the day.

The horse show Thursday afternoon was an interesting feature, and many fine animals were included in the exhibit. Prof. David Pyffe of the Ohio State University was the judge of the draft horses.

An exhibition of fire fighting chemicals was put on in the infield by Frank Thompson, and attracted quite a great deal of attention, showing how quickly flames 25 feet high could be extinguished by proper use of the chemical extinguisher.

Starlight, the hackney now under course of training in the hands of Chas. Allen, was introduced, but time being limited she was not placed on the track for an exhibition mile, this being postponed until Friday afternoon.

WILMINGTON GETS CHESTY

Through the Wilmington press and in various other ways, the Wilmington Clintons, who have indeed had a very successful season, are letting the world know what they think of themselves. They want it understood that there is no aggregation in south-central Ohio worthy of their steel. And they expect to further their claim and at the same time bestow a fitting climax to a good season by walloping the Washington Athletics in the five game series which starts Sunday. They even promise this!

But the Athletics feel differently. They are making no great talk, but they smile on the prophecies of the Clintons. Manager Grandle feels more than equal to the conflict and is confident that Reno and Fetherlin will give good account of the artillery.

The first game is to be played here. Dates have not been set for the others. The second game will be played in Wilmington, the third in Washington and the fourth in Wilmington. The fifth will be played in the city having registered the largest attendance at any one of the preceding games.

From the Wilmington News comes the information that Charlie Underwood Clinton center gardner, has been "released," and his place is to be filled by Centerfielder Durham Fisher, formerly of the Portsmouth State Leaguers.

The lineups for Sunday are announced as follows:

Wilmington — Helronamus, p; Emery or Shearer, c; McCall, 1b; Pohlmeyer, 2b; McClintock, ss; Shrimper, 3b; Frey, lf; Schwartz, cf; Haley, rf; Vance and Danis, subs. Washington—Reno and Fetherlin, p; D. Towell, c; H. Grandle, 1b; Jones, 2b; Corwin, ss; Lewis, 3b; Noon, lf; Matthews, cf; Adams, rf; A. Grandle and Beckel, subs.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR PICKED

While at Silver Bay, N. Y., General Secretary Walter Patton selected Mr. David S. Parker, a very talented young man of Courtland, New York, for physical director of the Y. M. C. A. in this city, and after the approval of the Physical Committee, Mr. Parker will take up his duties here.

Mr. Parker is a native of Courtland, N. Y., graduated from the high school there, studied in Y. M. C. A. work for sometime. He is an active religious worker, a Baptist by faith and has the best recommendations. He is six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds, and is single.

Secretary Patton believes himself most fortunate in securing such a genial and accomplished man for the place, and believes his choice will meet with general approval.

OPEN AIR CONCERT DRAWS THOUSANDS

A crowd of several thousand persons, including a large number of those who had attended the fair, assembled on the court house lawn and surrounding streets, Thursday night, where the best concert of the season was given by the Washington band, twenty-five strong.

Each selection drew rounds of applause, and as usual this year the band was highly complimented for the excellency of the music furnished.

A feature of the program was a cornet solo by Mr. Lee Rogers, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and this old time favorite splendidly rendered by Mr. Rogers, was so pleasing that he was called back and given unstinted applause. "My Mother's Rosary" pleasingly sung by Mr. Perce Pearce also made a hit with the audience, and he also responded to an encore.

For an hour and a half the big crowd was royally entertained by the band.

STRENGTHENING UP TO MEET ATHLETICS

Manager Powers, of the Clintons has signed Durham Fisher to cover the center field garden for the locals the balance of the season. Fisher is from Cincinnati and takes the place of Underwood. The new man was the star of the Ohio State League, now defunct, ranking third in batting and was a member of the fast Portsmouth team. It is believed he will strengthen the champion Clintons in a needed position.—Wilmington News.

MOVING PICTURE MEN AT THE FAIR

Moving picture operators — Cinematograph men—engaged in the work of filming Washington for the production of the Romance of Miss Washington to be screened here later on enjoyed a big time at the fair Thursday afternoon.

Many prominent exhibitors visitors and rural residents were snapped when they least suspected that their face and figure was being "caught in action" for posterity to gaze upon.

The 2:11 pace, in which the track's records were smashed, was filmed in good style.

The show horse exhibition was also perpetuated in film. Scenes and incidents were yesterday recorded which later on will be priceless.

He was taken to the Fayette Hospital where his injuries were found to consist of bruises and sprains. He will be out in a day or two.

The official thermometer in this city, at one o'clock Friday afternoon registered 96 degrees, or four degrees less than the hottest day of the season.

However the humidity was not so noticeable as that of the recent hot weather.

In Social Circles

The Elks' midsummer dance passed off with great brilliancy Thursday night, proving to be one of the most delightful dances ever given under the auspices of the B. P. O. E. A woodland scene of decoration was carried out with wonderfully artistic effect. Cat tails, yellow daisies, and quantities of greenery rose against the soft background of the ball room walls in graceful profusion and daisies and garlands were used on the tables, from which an elaborate two course supper was served.

The music was superb, furnished by Parker's four piece orchestra, of Columbus. Again and again the dancers encored the favorites—the orchestra responding most generously. Miss Louise Wilson, of Harveysburg, O., and Mr. George Pickering, of Eaton, led the grand march, in which participated fifty couples, chiefly of the younger sets. All arrangements were under the competent management of the Elks' social session committee, Messrs. Wolford, Michael and Lane.

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf, where she leaves the car. Becoming lost in the everglades she falls into the hands of the Seminole Indians. She is rescued and returned to her father, who has offered a reward for her return. Gloria falls in love with her rescuer, Freneau. Five years later she leaves school and meets Freneau at the theater. His attention having been occupied with her sister-in-law he has forgotten Gloria.

FOURTH EPISODE

Gloria went as if blindfolded through the glittering throngs in the corridor of the Metropolitan. It was a cruel humiliation to her young heart not even to be recognized by the man she had waited for through five eternal years, the man she had loyally considered herself engaged to all that time.

But Freneau was not long in finding out his mistake. Gloria had run away from her father to run to Freneau, only to run away from him in turn. Old Stafford, looking for Gloria, encountered Freneau, shook him warmly by the hand and asked: "Have you seen my daughter?"

Then he realized with a shock that the man Freneau was engaged to his daughter, and that the respite of five years was up. The mortgage on Gloria's heart was due. Stafford glowered at the handsome young enemy of his happiness.

But Freneau had suddenly realized that Gloria was Gloria. He made haste to pursue her. He caught her just as she paused at the door of the Stafford box and put up her absurdly small handkerchief to catch the absurdly large tears as they escaped over her pink petal cheeks.

Freneau deftly turned his slight into a compliment:

"Miss Stafford—Gloria! I was so dazzled when I saw you that I couldn't speak. You were tremendously pretty as a—kid; but now, with your hair up and all this grandeur on you, you're—you're a goddess. And you're mine, aren't you? You're still mine!"

His impetuous charge staggered her, but she was too deeply hurt to forgive him at once. She shook her head dolefully and punished him with sorrow rather than with anger. In spite of all he could say she slipped into the box, closed the door almost on his fingers and vanished.

He cursed his stupidity and turned away. He joined a group of men seated in a box, among them his partner, Frank Mulry, who was beaming like a full moon wrapped up in broadcloth and white linen. Freneau began peering about the house through his opera glass. He fastened them on Gloria where she sat brooding bitterly. The first great meeting with her lover had failed to live up to the dreams she had been cherishing for five years.

Her father leaned over and tried to interest her in the opera.

"Boris Godunov" is my favorite opera," he said, "and Amato is in splendid form tonight."

But Gloria hardly heard the sonorous orchestra or the thundering everglades and her capture by the Seminoles.

He Lost No Time in Preambles.

She shook her head at Freneau and turned to see what her father thought of her flirtatiousness. She saw why he liked "Boris Godunov" so much. He had never slept better. Now, with her chaperon gone to Dreamland, it looked to Gloria as if Providence meant that she should pursue the adventure.

ARMY BILL VETOED

articles of war which he had forced into the bill over the opposition of the President and the War Department.

Representative Hay announced that he would seek to repass the bill in the House under a special rule next Tuesday.

"The articles of war will not be permitted to get through in this bill again," he declared emphatically after a conference with several members of the Military Committee.

The President's veto of the bill, which contains provision for the support of the Army, as it is to be increased and for all the troops now in Mexican service, will necessitate passage of a new bill, and possibly may delay adjournment of Congress.

Mr. Hay followed his announcement by reintroducing the bill minus not only the section to which the President objected, but with the whole revision of the articles of war eliminated. This threatened to complicate the situation.

There have been broad intimations that the revision which proposed to remove retired officers from the jurisdiction of court martial was in the interest of a certain retired officer, who was waiting for a time when he would be immune from discipline to make a public attack on the Army.

The officer whose name was mentioned in connection with the reports was, while in service, very active in legislative affairs, was close to congressmen in framing army bills, and, until his retirement, was reckoned with as a power in legislation affecting the army.

The President's veto of the bill is one of the developments of the years of contest between the army and Chairman Hay.

The downfall of the continental army scheme and substitution of the National Guard reorganization against the recommendation of army officers is attributed to him.

Only the force of President Wilson's interference put the Regular Army increase in the new reorganization bill through the House in the face of Hay's opposition.

Washington, August 18.—Warning that the infantile paralysis epidemic may appear next summer in other states not now gravely affected, unless drastic measures are taken to control its course, was given today to the national conference of public health by the special committee named to recommend ways and means for its suppression.

The committee recommended that state health authorities be notified by uniform health certificates of removal of all children under 16 years of age from epidemic areas.

Quarantine of one state or community against another was disapproved.

The committee recommended that during the unusual prevalence of infantile paralysis schools should not be opened without medical supervision by a health authority.
